Facets of Friends

-Your personality!

-And how would you describe...?

-Three of four keystones, surrounded by a kind of chaos. Or mush.

-Yet, some anchors in there. That's good, no?

-Which unfortunately dissolve under pressure.

-What am I? A wet spot on the road?

-Actually, in the Swirtzky-Dell Index, your little point about the middle. Neither monster nor saint.

-But what if I nudged it towards saint? Really cleaned up my act! Worked really hard!

-Your other selves'd conspire against it.
But...they can learn to accommodate this proposed new you.

-Great! And how do YOU propose I start?

-By joining me for a beer and sandwich?

-Accept. I suppose I treat?

-In resonance with your transcendence.